

Baofeng UV-21 Pro V2 Walkie Talkie: Long Range Multi Band AM 999CH, TYPE-C for UV-5R & UV 17 K6 Ham Radio

BaoFeng · SKU: Baofeng UV-21 Pro V2 Wireless

TECHNOLOGY
Analog

IP RATING
No waterproof

OUTPUT POWER
5-10W

The Baofeng UV-21 Pro V2 is a high-performance wireless multi-band walkie talkie designed for ham radio enthusiasts. With the capability to copy frequencies across 999 channels, it offers exceptional versatility and extensive communication range. Its TYPE-C charging enhances convenience, allowing for quick and efficient power replenishment. Notable features include a long-lasting battery, robust construction, and...

$33 / unit

Wholesale & OEM pricing from 50 units — request a quote within 24h

SPECIFICATIONS

|                              |                                                                      |
|------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| High-concerned Chemical      | None                                                                 |
| Output Power(w)              | 5w-10w                                                               |
| Battery Capacity(mAh)        | High Power Capacity                                                  |
| Waterproof / Water-Resistant | No                                                                   |
| Material                     | Plastic                                                              |
| Storage Channel              | 999                                                                  |
| Model Number                 | UV-21 PRO V2                                                         |
| Walkie Talkie Type           | Portable                                                             |
| Maximum Range                | 5km-10km                                                             |
| Brand Name                   | BAOFENG                                                              |
| Origin                       | Mainland China                                                       |
| Wireless Frequency Copy      | Effortlessly duplicate frequencies for quick and easy setup.         |
| Easy to Use                  | User-friendly design ensures a smooth operation, even for beginners. |

